a special message

Congratulations to today's Ohio Agricultural Hall of Fame inductees! Each of these individuals has dedicated their lives and careers to improving and advancing Ohio's most important industry – food and agriculture.

Today's honorees have played an essential role in preserving Ohio's strong agricultural history, supporting the state's economy and contributing to the future advancement of the industry, which benefits every Ohioan. Ohio's food and agriculture industry plays an important role in the lives of all Ohioans in the form of food, milk, meat, jobs, and strong local economies which contribute to the state's $124 billion industry.

We are proud to join the Ohio Agricultural Council in recognizing these extraordinary individuals on their unique achievements and contributions. On behalf of the State of Ohio, we congratulate each of them on this distinguished honor and extend our gratitude for their role in advancing Ohio agriculture.

a warm welcome

On behalf of the leadership team of the Ohio Agricultural Council, it is my honor and privilege to welcome you to the 2021 Hall of Fame Breakfast, our 55th Celebration.

After our hiatus last year, our celebration will no doubt be a little livelier, the handshakes and hugs will feel a little warmer, and today's breakfast will taste a little bit sweeter. As we sit down to this delicious breakfast, remember the farmers in Ohio and across our great country who have dedicated their lives to producing safe, wholesome food to feed our communities.

Today, we honor our distinguished honorees from both 2020 and 2021. These honorees are the epitome of agriculture advocates and ambassadors. Each has built a legacy that will endure for generations to come. Thank you for joining us to share in the accomplishments of these eight outstanding individuals – a formal recognition much overdue for our 2020 inductees.

While we certainly miss the hustle and bustle of the Midway here at the Ohio State Fair, I'm sure you, like me, are so glad to see the livestock trailers and exhibitors – particularly the Junior Fair participants – return to the fairgrounds this year. We continue to be grateful to the Ohio Expo Commission for their hospitality as we gather here to celebrate our industry together.

Enjoy this morning's fellowship and festivities! I'm so grateful we are finally able to gather together once again!

Mike Bumgarner

about oac

The Ohio Agricultural Council serves as a vehicle through which those interested in agriculture may work together; a place where members may exchange ideas, strive to achieve mutual understanding and where they may coordinate their efforts to provide a favorable image of Ohio's agriculture.

Membership in OAC is open to organizations, companies and individuals who have an interest in the well-being and promotion of the agricultural industry in Ohio. Annual dues are $300 for organizations, $25 for organization associates (must be a current employee, officer, owner or director of an organization member) and $50 for individuals ($15 for students).

MEMBER MEETINGS

OAC holds two meetings per year at various central Ohio venues and features educational and entertaining guest speakers. The meetings are open to members and guests.

YOUTH EDUCATION

OAC has been a proud sponsor of Ohio's 4-H and FFA programs, as well as other education-related initiatives throughout the years. As we move forward, an Education Committee is being formed to help identify education initiatives that best fit the Council's goals to be of service to Ohio's farmers and the agricultural industry. If you have interest in serving on this committee, please email info@ohioagcouncil.org.

SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM

OAC annually offers scholarships to assist students in pursuing a career in agriculture. Scholarships are available to high school seniors preparing to enter college or any undergraduate student currently enrolled in college. Scholarships are selected based on academic record, leadership qualities, community involvement, references and responses to application essay questions. Scholarship recipients are also provided a one-year complimentary student membership in the Council.

ohio agricultural hall of fame

Created by the Ohio Agricultural Council in 1966, the Ohio Agricultural Hall of Fame has now honored more than 230 agriculturists who have dedicated their lives of outstanding work to Ohio's number-one industry, agriculture.

Induction into the Ohio Agricultural Hall of Fame is Ohio's highest recognition of an individual who has made outstanding contributions to the agricultural industry. Each year up to four prominent agricultural leaders are honored and inducted into the Ohio Agricultural Hall of Fame for their superior service, dedication, leadership and plentiful contributions to agriculture.

NOMINATION AND SELECTION PROCESS

Persons wishing to nominate an individual who he or she believes is deserving of consideration for induction into the Ohio Agricultural Hall of Fame may download a nomination form by visiting ohioagcouncil.org/hall-of-fame. Nomination forms, along with three letters of recommendation, must be submitted by March 15, 2022, in order to be eligible for consideration in 2022.

Three to five members including a former inductee are asked to serve as the Hall of Fame selection committee. In order to retain a high degree of integrity, the identity of the members of the selection committee is kept in confidence and precautions are taken to avoid the possibility of an individual serving on the selection committee more than one time.

JOE CORNELY

For more than 40 years, Joe Cornely dedicated his time to improving the agriculture industry through communication – cementing his name as a true guide and trusted news source for Ohio agriculture. Joe began his communication career at WKTN in Hardin County, serving local farmers through his broadcast. He later joined the WRFD radio stations, developing the station's 90-minute mid-day farm program that reached 80 Ohio counties.

In 1998, Cornely was hired as the director of media relations at the Ohio Farm Bureau. As the voice of OFB for more than 20 years, he made numerous contributions to the organization: helping to create the Our Ohio magazine, developing the radio program Town Hall Ohio, and launching OFB's social media accounts.

Known to always be the consummate professional in his various communication roles, Joe was often the spokesperson for agriculture to the general media, assisting them in understanding agriculture. He has received numerous recognitions and honors and is past president of the National Farm Broadcasters Association. Cornely retired from his profession in 2019 and leaves a legacy for others to follow.

DR. TONY FORSHEY

A mentor to future veterinarians and a champion of preventative measures, Dr. Tony Forshey made invaluable contributions to the betterment of the swine industry in his 27 years as a practicing veterinarian. The swine industry has grown significantly due to his focus on herd health and disease prevention, rather than simply treating sick animals. As an adjunct faculty member of the OSU College of Veterinary Medicine, Dr. Forshey mentored countless students, many of whom are now involved in Ohio agriculture as livestock producers or food animal veterinarians.

After leaving his private practice in 2005, Dr. Forshey joined the Ohio Department of Agriculture as the Assistant State Veterinarian, later appointed the State Veterinarian and Chief of the Division of Animal Health. In this position, he is charged with protecting and promoting Ohio's livestock and poultry industries. Through his leadership, Dr. Forshey has made significant investments in the betterment of the industry, most notably the creation of the Ohio Livestock Care Standards Board – the most comprehensive livestock care standards in the U.S.

LARRY R. GEARHARDT

Equally comfortable in blue jeans or a suit, Larry R. Gearhardt moves with ease from his small family farm, raising crops and livestock, to the Ohio Statehouse, lobbying on behalf of Ohio agriculture. He serves of counsel at Barrett, Easterday, Cunningham and Eselgroth and volunteers with Ohio Northern University's Agricultural Law program – the only one of its kind in Ohio and one which Gearhardt was a driving force in establishing.

In his distinguished career, Gearhardt has made significant impact on agriculture's political landscape. He was an advocate of private property rights, battling government's overuse of eminent domain and strengthening landowner rights through his time on Ohio's eminent domain task force. Gearhardt is known for his willingness to listen and advise, no matter the situation: whether it is an intentional phone call or a casual conversation in the grocery store, diner or local sporting event. He has spent his career perpetuating the advancement of agricultural law and serving as an ambassador to the farming community, political arena and beyond.

WENDELL L. WATERS

An untiring advocate for the agriculture industry, Wendell Waters has changed the face of Ohio agriculture through the sharing of his time and experience. Following a short term as the vocational agriculture teacher at Ridgewood Local Schools, Waters and his wife Marcia formed WenMar Farms, Inc., which today consists of 4,000 acres of corn and soybeans, and a 3,600-sow farrow to finish hog operation.

Waters, with several other trailblazers, founded the Ohio Corn Growers in 1977, which he would serve for eleven years in many capacities, including president. He also advocated for the Ohio Corn Marketing Program, which was established in 1989 for the betterment of Ohio's corn industry. Waters was instrumental in creating the PGI Group in 1994, a coalition of hog farmers that lowers costs through standardized genetics, jointly markets animals to increase market prices and shares best practices to continuously improve the hog industry. For more than 50 years, Waters has been a champion for Ohio farmers, ensuring the industry continues to thrive for years to come.

MONTE R. ANDERSON

Monte Anderson, Ph.D. has spent the last 35 years planting seeds. As Chair/Coordinator for the Agriculture Department of Wilmington College, Anderson is responsible for more than 275 agriculture students. Each year, these students are guided by Anderson to germinate the vision of a career in agriculture within them, allowing them to grow into a legion of proud, productive agriculture professionals. Anderson is above all an advocate. An advocate for agriculture, and advocate for Wilmington College, and an advocate for the student.

After receiving his Ph.D. in Agricultural Education from The Ohio State University, Anderson began his career at Blackhawk Community College, where he was the Division Director for Agriculture. While serving in this role, Anderson developed and implemented a recruitment model that led to recruit and retain over 200 full-time students in the program. Anderson left Blackhawk to join Wilmington College in 1985 as an Assistant Professor in the Department of Agriculture, rising quickly through the ranks to received tenure in 1991 and full professor status in 1994.

RANDY BROWN

Passionate about promoting Ohio agriculture, Randy Brown has made a positive impact on the industry at the county, state and national levels. For 41 years, Brown has worked on his family's farming operation, which includes a sow and farrow-to-finish swine operation, cattle, and 1,100 acres of cropland. Brown focuses his time on the swine operation, adapting to the ever-changing production methods in the swine industry - from raising pigs outdoors on dirt lots, to building modern, high-tech barns with controlled environments.

From the early stages of his professional career, Brown has served on numerous committees and boards within agriculture, including Ohio Pork Council President and board member, Ohio Livestock Coalition member, National Pork Board member and more. Brown is well-known for hosting personal farm tours for legislators and key leaders to educate about modern pork production, and advocating for the pork industry in Washington, D.C. through the National Pork Producers Council's Legislative Seminar. With a strong career history on a family farm and dedication to advocacy, it is obvious that Randy's passion for the Ohio pork industry - and Ohio's agricultural community - is strong.

On behalf of Ohio's foodbanks, thank you to the farmers, growers, and producers that continued their essential work every day of the pandemic. Thank you to the Ohio National Guard soldiers and airmen that helped keep Ohio-grown food on the table for the hungry Ohioans we serve.

TIMOTHY CORCORAN

Tim Corcoran, owner and partner of Corcoran Farms, has more than four decades of experience contributing to the betterment of Ohio agriculture and rural communities.

A legacy of advocating and protecting the interests of farmers has earned Corcoran widespread praise and recognition. His work has also led to more than 40 leadership appointments with at least 22 different organizations including civic groups, church and schools, community planning groups, charities, political committees and agricultural associations at the local, state and national level, most notably the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, National Association of Corporate Directors, American Farm Bureau Federation, Ohio Soybean Association and Ohio Corn Growers Association.

Corcoran's strong leadership is matched with a humble personality and an innate sense of service. He is passionate about farming and recognizes the importance of helping others succeed in the industry. By lifting others up and recognizing their strengths, he has positively influenced current and future generations of Ohio farmers.

KEITH M. STIMPERT

Over the course of his career, Keith Stimpert has demonstrated a dedication, passion and belief in farmers and the betterment of agriculture. As Executive Director of the Ohio Soybean Association, Stimpert was asked to take on the legislative and education priorities of the Ohio Soybean Association. With the creation of a national soybean checkoff established in 1991, Stimpert worked with farmer leaders to create an organization that would manage Ohio's portion of the fund; ultimately taking the helm of the Ohio Soybean Council.

In 2009, Stimpert was part of the leadership team that helped to pass Issue 2 and the creation of the Ohio Livestock Care Standards Board, which is still functioning today. The livestock care standards board created a national model for addressing livestock care and avoiding costly ballot initiatives. Stimpert retired from Ohio Farm Bureau in 2020, but his legacy in Ohio's agriculture industry is evident, manifesting through lasting legislation, association policies and statewide programs that continue to impact the industry today.

AGRICULTURAL AND RESEARCH DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

Central State University Land-Grant programs focus on solving problems related to agricultural production, natural resources, water quality, and health and nutritional disparities.

Research efforts include:

- Improving pollinator health and honeybee production.
- Developing alternate crops that can improve health and nutrition.
- Creating economic opportunities for citizens by sharing hemp research and knowledge.
- Improving water quality and ecological health in forest watersheds and agricultural lands.

oac scholarships

OAC annually offers scholarships to assist students in pursuing a career in an agricultural-related field. Six - $1,500 scholarships are available to high school seniors preparing to enter college or any undergraduate student currently enrolled in college. Applicants or their parent or legal guardian must be a resident of Ohio.

Scholarships are selected based on academic record, leadership qualities, community involvement and responses to application essay questions. Scholarship recipients are also provided a one-year complimentary student membership in OAC.
